"STUDY SKILLS BUILDER"

An online one-on-one academic support program

A Course Description

Effective time management and improved academic performance in all subjects comprise the foundation of "Study Skills Builder," now offered to high school students year round.

This uniquely designed tutoring service is intended to arm students -- no matter where they live -- with all the tools needed to handle the complexities of today's high school classrooms. This is especially true during the second semester of an academic year, when students' concentration and focus tend to slip.

By taking advantage of technology and distance-learning methods, "Study Skills Builder" provides students with one-on-one tutoring sessions to help them monitor, plan, review and prepare class assignments, papers, tests and quizzes on a weekly basis. Among the objectives is to keep students accountable when it comes to their academic progress.

Students meet with Tutoring by TONY instructor Tony Moton for 30 minutes each week in a teleconference format for the 20-week semester. During the regularly scheduled meetings, students game plan tests, organize schedules and plot out assignments via any number of online or distance-learning modalities, including (but not exclusively):

Instant Message, Email, Skype (or web cam), Telephone and/or Videos

Students will undergo a pre-interview with Tony Moton to determine how to best integrate the technology with the study skills package for the semester. Students are required to be prepared for each online session with all available textbooks, class notes, reading materials, academic calendars and schedule planners.

Supplemental handouts, videos and readings cover subjects such as editing academic papers, improving test-taking skills and raising reading comprehension level. They are provided to help students reach their goals with a holistic approach to academic success.
